TRIO STABBED DURING BRAWL

One Held on Cutting Charge, Another for Creating Disturbance at Magnetic Springs.

MARION WORKMAN VICTIM

Fight Starts in Beer Parlor After Members of Gang Had Been Drinking.

Special to The Star
MAY 4.—One Marion county man today faced a charge of cutting with intent to wound and another with creating a disturbance following an altercation in a Magnetic Springs beer parlor at 11:30 o'clock Saturday night in which three men were stabbed.

Howard Gray, 38, farmer of Magnetic Springs yesterday was charged with cutting with intent to wound, and Leslie Hayes, 30, of near Magnetic Springs, with creating a disturbance by William Thompson, owner of the beer parlor and a Marion steel mill worker.

According to Sheriff William Rausch who investigated the fracas, Gray and Hayes, with a number of others, had been drinking beer at the Thompson place for some time when suddenly they began throwing bottles that had accumulated on the table in front of them.

In the melee that followed, Thompson, Albert Hall of New Dover and a man named Metcalf were wounded by a sharp instrument. Hall was wounded in the right side of the chest and right arm. Metcalf behind the right ear and Thompson on the right wrist. None of the wounds were severe, the sheriff said.

Sheriff Rausch said he found a corn husker in Gray's possession at the time of his arrest. He said he believed this was the instrument used in the stabbings. Gray denied he had used any weapon but admitted taking part in the disturbance.

M. E. Delegates Vote Unification of 3 Churches

Agree 470-83 To Unite With Southern Branch and Methodist Protestants.

By The Associated Press
COLUMBUS, O., May 4.—Delegates to the quadrennial conference of the Methodist Episcopal church overwhelmingly approved today its unification with the Methodist Episcopal church, South, and the Methodist Protestant church.

Unification of the three churches, it appeared by the other two bodies, would give the Methodist church a membership of 5,000,000—the largest Protestant body in the world.

MORROW CO. BOY KILLED IN AUTO ACCIDENT

Francis Burklew, 15, Formerly of Marion, Victim of Mishap Near Mt. Gilead.

AUTO OVERTURNS TWICE

Companion, Wm. Ramborger, Rescued After Being Trapped Under Car 15 Minutes.

Special to The Star
MT. GILEAD, O., May 4.—Francis Burklew, 15-year-old Mt. Gilead High school pupil and former Marion resident, met instant death about 2:30 a. m. Sunday when the car in which he and a companion were returning from an evening with Mt. Gilead friends overturned a quarter of a mile from the Burklew farm home six miles south of Mt. Gilead.

Burklew, who was driving the car, was killed instantly. Coroner T. S. Carls said. The other occupant, William Ramborger, 15, a neighbor of the Burklew family and owner of the light roadster in which the youths were riding, escaped virtually uninjured.

According to Ramborger's account of the accident, the car was traveling at a high rate of speed and when it got out of control of the driver, overturned twice in the ditch. Burklew's skull was crushed and his neck was broken.

Caught Under Car

Ramborger was trapped under the car and it was more than 15 minutes before help came. Dale T. Claypool of Mt. Gilead, who was driving on the side road on which the accident occurred, stopped and extricated Ramborger and took him and the Burklew boy, who had died instantly, to the Graven funeral home in Mt. Gilead.

Burklew was a sophomore in the Mt. Gilead High school, was active in the school's chapter of Future Farmers of America, and had been a member of several of the school's livestock judging teams.

He was born in Marion, the son of Samuel R. and Bertha Mayer Burklew. The family moved to the present farm home four years ago from their home on Cherry street in Marion.

Surviving with the parents are three sisters, Mrs. E. L. Martin of Mt. Vernon, Miss Una Burklew at home, Richard of Marengo and Emma, who spends part of her time with her aunt, Mrs. R. C. Dugan of South Vine street in Marion.

The funeral will be conducted Tuesday afternoon at the Graven funeral home in Mt. Gilead by Rev. E. L. Hurley of the First Baptist church and Rev. L. Eugene Rush of the Trinity M. E. church. Burial will be made in the Rivercliff cemetery at Mt. Gilead.

C. OF C. CALLED TO TALK ON TAX LEVY

Mayor F. C. Smith Will Discuss Proposal at Meeting Wednesday.

Members of the Chamber of Commerce have been called to a dinner meeting Wednesday night at Hotel Marion to hear Mayor Frederick C. Smith explain the need for the 3.2 mill special tax levy to appear on the May 12 primary ballots.

The dinner will start at 6:30 and the talk will begin at 7:30. A forum will follow in which members will be given opportunity to ask questions pertaining to the proposed levy.

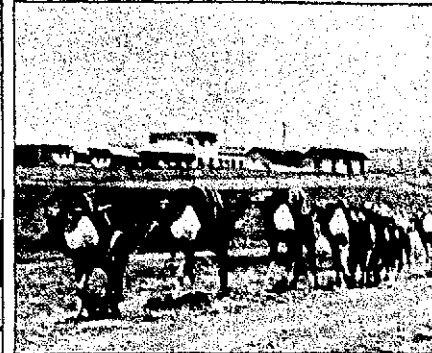

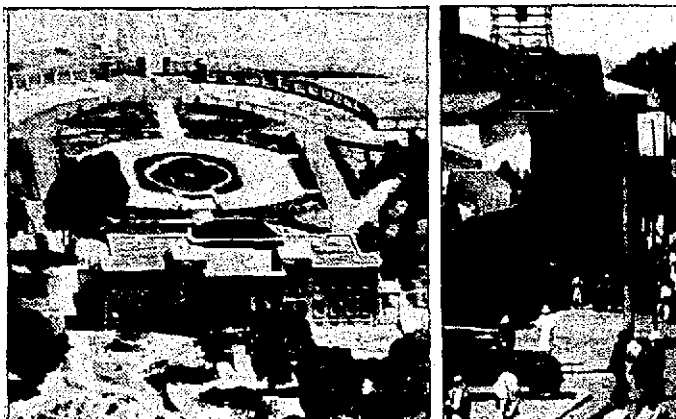

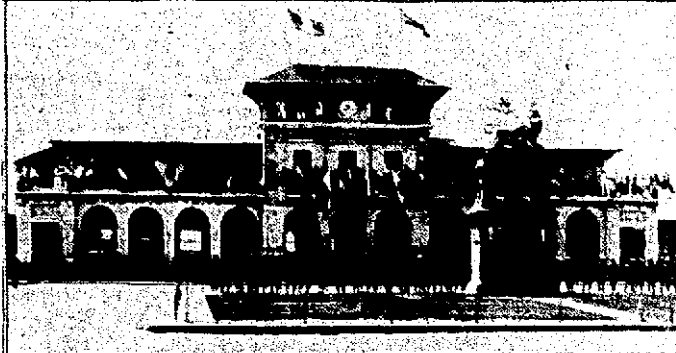

W. D. Brown said the general public is welcome to come to the meeting and that seating accommodations will be provided for persons who wish to come at 7:30 and hear the talk but do not care to attend the dinner.

He asked the 225 Chamber members to whom letters were sent Saturday to mail their reservations as soon as possible. The Chamber, he said, arranged for the meeting because it wished its members to have first-hand information on what it regards as an important municipal problem.

KARPIS TO FACE COURT SHORTLY

Kidnaping, Murder and Robbery Charges To Be Filed Against Jailed Bandit.

CITE BREMER, HAMM CASES

Captive Questioned Concerning Abductions To Learn Who Handled Ransom.

By The Associated Press
ST. PAUL, May 4.—The government planned today an early arraignment of Alvin Karpis on kidnaping charges as county authorities at Minneapolis moved to seek his indictment there for bank robbery and murder.

U. S. District Attorney George F. Sullivan said Karpis would be arraigned on four kidnaping and conspiracy counts in the abductions of two St. Paul business leaders William Hamm Jr., brewer, and Edward G. Bremer, banker. The time has not been set, he said, but it would be soon. The maximum penalty for kidnaping is life imprisonment.

Continue To Quiz Him
Protracted questioning of Karpis continued today as federal agents attempted to learn additional details of the kidnaping plots and the names of other accomplices—particularly the money changers who handled the $100,000 Hamm ransom.

In New York, J. Edgar Hoover, chief of the federal bureau of investigation, said that if Karpis is found guilty of kidnaping here, he may also be tried for the slaying of Sheriff C. R. Kelley of West Plains, Mo., in 1931. Missouri authorities said they wanted Karpis to face the death penalty in a murder trial there.

Six men, recently indicted with Karpis in the Hamm case, are in custody. The companions seized with Karpis last Friday—Fred Hunter and a woman whose name was given as Ruth Robinson—were held at New Orleans.

Hoover said the trio was taken without a struggle. He added: "We'd have killed him (Karpis) if he'd resisted."

5-SIDED PRIMARY SLATED IN CALIFORNIA TUESDAY

Contest Involves Roosevelt, Landon, Upton Sinclair and Rep. Goarthy, Townsend Plan Advocate.

By The Associated Press
WASHINGTON, May 4.—Political attention was focused on the far western campaign scene today as a possible 3,000,000 Californians made ready for tomorrow's five-sided primary.

Not only in the Pacific coast state, but in South Dakota tomorrow and in Maryland today are state-wide primaries the top billing of the week's political shows. In California, however, the carry of many names stirred greater interest. The primaries there involve President Roosevelt, Gov. Alf M. Landon of Kansas, Upton Sinclair, Rep. McGroarty, Democrat of California, and an unaffiliated Republican state.

When Emperor Haile Selassie fled Addis Ababa he ordered the imperial palace (lower left) thrown open to the people with the result that the Ethiopian capital was soon the scene of wild disorder, buildings being set afire by drunken natives. Foreigners sought safety in the British and American legations. One American, Mrs. A. R. Stein, wife of a missionary, was killed by a stray bullet. Pictures show various scenes in and about the city. SOCIALISTS WIN CONTROL OF FRENCH GOVERNMENT

Leon Blum, Party Leader, Ready To Take Over Power After Sweeping Victory by Leftist Faction.

By The Associated Press
PARIS, May 4.—A Socialist government for France was in prospect today as the result of yesterday's parliamentary election. The United Socialist party, led by Leon Blum, Socialist and leader of his party, announced he was ready to take over the power.

The Socialists will be the largest party in the new chamber of deputies with 146 seats and they claimed the right to head a "People's Front" government with Blum considered the likely premier.

The People's Front parties—Socialists, Radical-Socialists, and Communists—swept the polls. Difficulty in forming a People's Front cabinet, however, was seen in a request by Blum for "common action" in the government. This was interpreted in chamber of deputies lobbies as meaning that Blum wants his Communist allies to enter the cabinet and it was expected that they would refuse to do so.

With all but four of the 618 districts accounted for, the 70-Left showed this standing:
Center 137

The "People's Front" of Communists, Socialists and Radical-Socialists polled more than 600,000 of the total vote of 1,500,000 in returns available from yesterday's run-off elections.

The United Socialist party, taking at least 145 of the 418 seats in the chamber, became the strongest single party, displacing the more moderate Radical-Socialists, who predominated in the last chamber but had won only 115 seats for the new house. The Communists took 82 seats, with other leftist groups making up the People's Front total of 278.

POLICE HUNT WOMAN IN TOLEDO KILLING

TOLEDO, O., May 4.—Police hunted a woman for questioning today in connection with the slaying of Charles V. Yazzel, 37, WPA worker, who was stabbed to death yesterday in an alley. About 25 feet from the murder spot a woman's two-piece blue knitted suit was found, stained with blood, detectives said. A man was held for questioning last night.

National music week will be given a place of prominence in activities of the city this week with the convening Tuesday of the fifty-fourth annual convention of the Ohio Music Teachers' association at Hotel Harding. Mrs. Harold K. Mouser of South Prospect street is head of the state organization.

The week also will mark the closing of the season for the Marion Civic orchestra which will play a courtesy program for the convention visitors Tuesday night at the First Presbyterian church. Convention social affairs will include a tea Tuesday afternoon with Mrs. Carl W. Sawyer as hostess at her home at White Oaks farm, a banquet Wednesday evening at Hotel Harding, followed by a dance at the Junior club with members of the County Chamber of Commerce as hosts. Arrangements for the dance are in charge of a committee composed of R. N. Anderson, chairman, Cecil Baldauf, Clarence Sands, Robert Heintzinger and Boyle Morgan.

A musical program will feature the tea Tuesday afternoon at White Oaks farm. There are still a few tickets available for this function, Mrs. Mouser announced today and these may be purchased by local residents at the registration desk at convention headquarters at Hotel Harding, Miss Charlat Collars of Delaware, flutist, who is widely known in music circles here will be one of the guest entertainers at the banquet. Her accompaniments will be played by Theodore Schaeffer of Mansfield.

DEATH CLAIMS ATTACK VICTIM

Mrs. Elizabeth Huber of Near Crestline Dies Week After Burglars Struck Her.

APOPLEXY PROVES FATAL

Had Been Suffering from Effects of Shock But Was Able To Be Around.

Special to The Star
CRESTLINE, May 4.—One week after being struck on the head by two masked men Mrs. Elizabeth Huber, 77, widow of the late Philip Huber, died at her home four and a half miles northwest of Crestline Saturday at 4:46 p. m. after a stroke of apoplexy suffered 10 minutes before her death.

Mrs. Huber was residing in her room at the home of her son, Theodore Huber, while the Huber family were in Crestline shopping Saturday night, April 25. Before she could answer a knock on the door, the assailants broke down the inner door on her son's side of the house, struck her over the head, dragged her to the living room and searched the house as she lay unconscious.

Took Only 24
Only 24 was found to be missing. Since that time she has suffered from nervous shock, but was able to be about the house. Death came soon after being carried from a chair to her bed. Less than three months previous to Mrs. Huber's assault, two of her nephews, John and Jacob Huber, were bound and tortured by masked gunmen at their farm north of Crestline. On this occasion only 24 was taken.

Reports that the assailants of Mrs. Huber were probably the same as those who robbed the bachelor Huber brothers at their farm one mile distance on Feb. 7 are without foundation, according to police, who state that the three men involved in that case were located by Detroit police and identified. They were prosecuted there on another charge and are now in the state prison at Milan, Mich.

Born in Germany
Mrs. Huber was born Nov. 22, 1858, in Hassenodern, Germany, and was a daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. John Vonstein. She was married to Philip Huber in Hancock county in 1881. He preceded her in death March 18, 1926.

Surviving are one daughter, Mrs. Reuben Brobst of Crestline, and two sons, Adda Huber and Theodore Huber of near Crestline; eight grandchildren; two brothers, Jacob Huber and Adam Huber, and a sister, Mrs. John Trecht, all of Hancock county.

Funeral services will be held at 2:30 p. m. Tuesday at the St. Paul's Reformed church. Rev. W. L. Margard will officiate. Burial will be made in Reformed cemetery at Leesville.

Selassie To Board British Steamer and Seek Refuge in Haifa, Palestine.

By The Associated Press
Addis Ababa, capital of the shattered kingdom of Ethiopia, fought for their lives today against an attack by native marauders as Italian troops approached the city's gates from the northwest.

American Minister Cornelius Van H. Engel reported to the state department that two native servants in the American legation had been seriously wounded when rioters attacked and that the situation was getting worse.

Shoot One Attacker
He advised the state department by wireless the American legation fought off a charge of the bandits, leaving one of their attackers either killed or wounded.

Engel made an urgent appeal to the state department to request British assistance in holding the United States legation against the rioters.

Paul Bodard, French minister to Ethiopia, reported that the Ethiopian soldiers assigned to guard his legation had mutilated and turned their guns on the building.

Marshall Pietro Dagoglio, commander-in-chief of the Italian army in east Africa, advised his government that Italy's Italian troops, acting as "advance point" for the main Italian body, were virtually at Addis Ababa.

Selassie Flees to Haifa
Emperor Haile Selassie who fled before the imminent invasion of Premier Mussolini's blackshirt armies, will seek refuge in Haifa, Palestine. Foreign Secretary Anthony Eden told the British house of commons.

He will sail aboard a British cruiser, the H. M. S. Enterprise for the British mandated territory, from Djibouti, French Somaliland, where he took refuge in his flight from his capital city.

A dispatch under the combined signatures of American correspondents in the Ethiopian capital and London had indicated.

It was estimated 2,000 refugees of 23 nationalities were being sheltered in the British legation. A rescue party from the legation found five persons dead in front of the Turkish legation.

10 Europeans Killed
It was estimated that at least 10 Europeans had been killed in Addis Ababa in the last 48 hours.

An informed source said the emperor had left his son, Crown Prince Asfa Wosam, in Addis Ababa to await the arrival of the Italians, and rumors circulated that Haile Selassie would abdicate in favor of Asfa Wosam, the latter becoming emperor under Italian domination.

But the Italians had indicated they might place Prince Bealale, grandson of the late Emperor Leij Tassam, on the throne. Lij Tassam was deposed by the late Emperor Zewditu and Haile Selassie.

The black-shirted Roman legions were reported encamped within 10 miles of the defenseless city waiting only the arrival of the main Italian column for the final, triumphant take.

280 RESERVATIONS MADE FOR MEETING

Attendance at State B. of L. F. and E. Auxiliary To Exceed 300.

Two hundred and eighty reservations had been made at noon today for the state meeting of the Ladies' society to the Brotherhood of Locomotive Firemen and Engineers which will open Tuesday at 10 a. m. in the Eagles hall. The number is expected to reach 300 before the one-day session begins.

A reception for the grand officers will follow registration, and the address of welcome will be given by the Marion auxiliary president, Mrs. Mabel Boncutter. Grand officers are expected to attend from Iowa, Pennsylvania, Wisconsin and Ohio.

Degree loans from Columbus, Dennison, Willard, Conneaut, Marion, Massillon and Canton will exemplify the work of the order. A question box will be a feature of the afternoon session.

A banquet at night at 6 will be followed by a drill exhibition at 7:30, and a dance to which all eligible firemen and their wives have been invited.

DEATH TAKES S. R. REBER, 81

Member of Well-Known Marion County Family Dies at Home Here.

Samuel R. Reber, 81, of 625 M. Vernon avenue, a member of one of the oldest families in Marion county, died Saturday at 5:15 p. m. at his home after a two-year illness of paralysis.

Although he owned a farm at Brush Ridge, Mr. Reber did not engage in farming to the extent of his father, the late Felix Reber, or his brother, Frank Reber, who now operates the home farm three miles northwest of Marion. He came to Marion 45 years ago and until he retired about 20 years ago was employed for a time at the Marion Steam Shovel Co. and operated a grocery for several years.

Years ago Mr. Reber served as city secretary and director and as a city councilman.

He was a member of the first class initiated into Marion Lodge No. 402, Knights of Pythias, and was one of the two oldest living members. Recently he was voted a life membership in the lodge, but his death came before the papers were returned to Marion by the grand keeper of records and seal. He served as chancellor of the lodge in 1902.

Mr. Reber's father, the late Felix Reber, came to Marion county in 1821 and established the large home farm northwest of the city, and in 1870 built the large brick home and surrounding buildings.

Mr. Reber was born Aug. 3, 1854, at Royallton in Fairfield county, to Felix and Harriet Crosby Reber. He was married on May 17, 1882, in Upper Sandusky to Miss Alice M. Tripp.

He attended the Methodist church.

Surviving are two daughters, Mrs. Myrtle Hazen of 264 Hane avenue and Miss Gladys Reber at home, three grandchildren, Kathryn, Evelyn and Reber Hazen of Marion, one brother, Frank, who lives on the home farm, and two sisters, Mrs. Cora Olson of south of Marion and Mrs. Nellie Hoyer, south of east of Marion.

The funeral will be conducted Tuesday at 2:30 p. m. at the home by Rev. Franklin G. Markley, pastor of the Epworth M. E. church. Burial will be made in the Marion cemetery. Friends may view the body at the home.

METHODISTS AGREE TO UNIFICATION PLAN

and the delegates sang "March Onward to Zion."

The Methodist Church South and the Methodist Protestant church governing bodies have indicated the proposal would receive their approval. The Methodist Protestant church conference May 20 at High Point, N. C.

Under the unification plan, a "Methodist church" would be established by a year after ratification by the general conferences and a three-fourths majority of the annual conferences.

The plan was drafted by a joint commission from the Methodist Episcopal church, the Methodist Episcopal church, South, and the Methodist Protestant church.

The proposed unification met a protest from Negro delegates. Thirty-three of the 82 Negro delegates signed a protest against the jurisdictional setup under the plan of merger.

The Negro delegates said, however, they would not fight unification and predicted along with supporters of the move that affiliation would be approved today.

Action of the Negro delegation, at which 19 declined to sign the protest, was taken Sunday at a caucus presided over by the Rev. E. M. Jones of the Central Alabama conference.

Forty years ago a proposal to unite the north and south branches of the Methodist Episcopal church came before the quadrennial conference of the Northern church.

It was approved and sent to the Southern church and to the annual conference of the Northern branch. In the north the annual conferences met and approved the proposal.

South of the Mason and Dixie line the general conference likewise voted for unification, but in the annual conferences the program failed to win the necessary three-fourths majority, although more than half the conferences approved.

Church leaders said all southern bishops were not strongly committed to the program of unification and had messaged the general conference here approval for a "united Methodistism."

Bishop W. N. Aldworth of the Methodist Episcopal church, South, arrived Sunday to speak on the unification program at a meeting in the conference auditorium and to be present when the proposal was presented for a vote of delegates.

The unification program provides for establishment of a "Methodist church" within a year after ratification by the general conferences and a three-fourths majority of the annual conferences. The last general conference that of the Southern church, will not be held until 1945. The Methodist Protestant general conference will be held this month.

Under the program the united church would be divided into six jurisdictional areas, five of them territorially, and the sixth for Negro Methodist churches.

FOUR JURORS SEATED IN MANSFIELD MURDER CASE

suspect by the state at noon, but it was believed others would be called as soon as the taking of testimony began.

Crestline Girl Called

The three called are Miss Hazel Leapley of Crestline, from whose home Wilson was reported to have telephoned his father a short time after Miss Moorehead was slain. Marshall C. Mick of Crestline who took Wilson into custody at a Crestline filling station the night of the shooting and held him until Mansfield authorities arrived, and D. L. Cowles, Cleveland ballistics expert.

Wilson was calm and natty attired in the courtroom. Before the session opened he declared, "I was accidental. I did not mean to shoot her. They must believe me. I've never been in trouble before. Not even for a petty offense. I expect an acquittal."

To Ask for Chair

Prosecutor Marriott declared, "There is no doubt in my mind that there was deliberation and malice in the shooting, and I'm going to ask for the chair."

Jean Moorehead was the daughter of Ralph E. Moorehead, for 25 years an auto dealer in this city and a leader in civic affairs.

While the state concluded its plans to exact the death penalty from the principal in Ohio's "puppy love" slaying, the youth moved about in the Highland county jail bullpen, mingling with the handful of other prisoners there on lesser charges, alternately reading magazines or playing rummy.

Spoken Pleasantly

Freshly shaven, he wore an old gray sweater and unpressed black trousers. Through the barred door of the bullpen he spoke pleasantly and with an attempt at casualness.

But, while the fits of sobbing and the surliness which characterized his earlier days in the prison were absent, frequent catches in his voice betrayed the taut condition of his nerves and belied his attempt at composure. Concerning the approaching trial, he said:

"I'm a little nervous."

Of his parents he spoke affectionately and regretfully. He had seen his mother but once since his father's death, and that was last Thursday. He'd consorted then only because Sheriff Long had permitted him to talk with her in the jail office. He said:

"I'd never let her see me behind bars. Never in this world."

Labels Shooting Accidental

Concerning the shooting, which may cost his life or long years of freedom, he related, as he has again and again since he was taken into custody at Crestline, 12 miles west of here, about three hours after the shooting.

"It was accidental."

It had happened, he told authorities, as he and the girl lapsed over the gun. And, "like a damn fool," he was drunk, he said.

The state, however, under the guidance of Prosecutor Marriott, is prepared to contest that defense. Marriott said:

"It's a plain case of first degree murder. There is no evidence of intoxication."

Prosecutor Hines Only Son

Marriott, in his first year as prosecutor here, like the father, but the prisoner, has an only son, but that fact, he indicated, will have no effect on the prosecution of the case.

He denied that a conference of attorneys Saturday morning had anything to do with a possible compromise on a reduced charge, saying, "There will be no compromise."

Assailing Marriott in the state's effort to send young Wilson to the chair, are George H. Becker, a noted assistant prosecutor, and Harold Lutz, Marriott's assistant.

Silent on Strategy

Handling Wilson's case in the courtroom will be former Federal Judge William Day of Cleveland and L. H. Beam, Mansfield attorney. Neither side would give a hint as to its proposed strategy. Day would only say:

"Our defense is that the boy is not guilty."

While the state was equally reticent, it is known that Prosecutor Marriott spent a day last week at the Lima State hospital for the Criminal Insane in conference with Dr. R. E. Bushong, its superintendent, a suggestion that the prosecution is anticipating an insanity plea.

Moreover, the state also has to bolster its deliberation charge. Haskell Smith stated that Wilson, after his first threats to the girl, replaced the .32-caliber pearl-handled revolver, for which he says he gave $15 several years ago, in his pocket once before the fatal shooting.

Letters Held

As to the letters said to have been exchanged between the dead girl and her accused slayer, and some of which are rumored to be in the possession of attorneys to both sides, neither the state nor the defense would comment.

Prosecutor Marriott, they expect, will push to the limit for the state penalty. Special Prosecutor Becker, prosecuting attorney here for four years, and a member of the Ohio racing commission, they know as a hard-driving criminal lawyer with an impressive list of convictions during his terms of office here.

On the other side, there is L. H. Beam, homespun, slow-spoken, but a shrewd judge of human nature. He was born and reared on a farm near Mansfield and has practiced in this community for years, and therefore believes he can cope with the psychology of either farm or city members of the jury.

Former Gold Star

And then there is, on the boy's side, Day. The tall, powerfully-built former University of Michigan football star and former federal judge, has a long and successful career as a criminal lawyer to his credit. And if he had not, Mansfield would still be in view of a recent acquittal in this community, give him its undying respect.

Day is a shrewd appraiser of the human values in a situation and on this occasion he is expected to play them to the limit. He is also known as a past master of the sob.

Opinion here is divided, of course, but feeling, which runs high immediately after the shooting, has veered amazingly in the past few weeks. No one condones the killing, but Wilson's record here is speaking for him and speaking impressively.

Mansfield knows him as a quiet, pleasant youth, who has never before figured in any difficulty. He comes of pioneer Highland county stock, not so wealthy and not so generally well known as the M. O. family, but of people highly respectable and very well liked.

Finished High School

The son of Mr. and Mrs. E. J. Wilson, he was graduated from high school in 1931 and like so many youths of his age was educationally a victim of the depression. He attended Ashland college at Ashland, O., but because his father, a salesman, was affected by business slump, had to leave school.

Since that time he has held several jobs, last summer running his own auto laundry. He had been working for a large electrical concern for several months prior to the shooting.

Because this community and the whole countryside around it have taken such an interest in the case, it is anticipated by both sides.

Marriott said:

"It may take anywhere from one to three days."

Beam, speaking for the defense, said, however: "We will not ask for a change of venue."

California To Hold Primary Tomorrow

Warren, Supporters of the latter also announced yesterday that Col. Frank Knox had endorsed the idea of an unaffiliated delegation.

South Dakota's vote is to be a struggle between the state pledged to Sen. Borah and an unaffiliated one which is claimed by Landon supporters. The eight delegates to be selected are not bound by the preferential vote.

President Roosevelt was unopposed in the Democratic primary in South Dakota, but in Maryland today he again met the opposition of Col. Henry Broekings of New York. The President defeated Broekings in Pennsylvania's primary last week.

Concluding his campaign in Baltimore last night, Broekings, foe of the new deal, declared he "carpetbaggered" and asked the machinery of government and the machinery of the party.

The results of the popular vote are binding upon the delegates in instructing the Maryland delegation to the national convention. Maryland has 16 votes in the latter gathering.

As the leaders prepared for the many primaries, they came from Democratic headquarters a claim of the largest nation-wide Democratic legislative history.

"The Democratic state is many states," the national committee said, "has been in excess of the total cost for compelling Republican candidates."

kilometers (about 84 miles) from the city.

After the first wild orgy, precipitated by Emperor Selassie's flight from his capital early Saturday, a reaction had quieted Addis Ababa.

Take to the Hills

Bandits were being forced to defend their loot against law-abiding warriors and the looters began taking to the hills, leaving a scene of desolation behind them.

The city's business center was wrecked, stores were looted with supplies, government buildings were stormed and foreigners were harried against attacks on legation quarters.

An American woman, Mrs. N. A. Stead, wife of an Adventist missionary, was among foreigners known to have perished. A bullet pierced the galvanized roof of the mission and struck her in her sleep at dawn yesterday.

The emperor blamed a revolt of his own tribesmen rather than the power of the Italian armies for the collapse of his empire. An uprising of the Galla tribes in Yogo and Wollo provinces, the emperor was quoted, plunged the Ethiopians to defeat on the northern front.

Awful Climate Aid

Four uniformed members of the chamber of deputies assembled in Rome, expelling Premier Mussolini to announce the climax of the seven-month-long campaign for east African conquest.

An expectant populace was hopeful he would make the announcement which will unleash a vast "adunata," or general mobilization, in celebration of final victory.

Premier Mussolini indicated, in an address yesterday to peasants, that at least 400,000 of the half million Fascist soldiers and laborers in Africa are destined to remain there as settlers.

Confronted with Italy's virtual domination of Ethiopia the British cabinet assembled today, and reliable sources said, pondered three vital questions.

1. What should Britain's policy be at Geneva when and if pressure is applied to remove sanctions against Italy?

2. What should Sir Sydney Barron, British minister at Addis Ababa, be instructed if a Fascist puppet emperor is set up on Haile Selassie's empty throne?

3. What would be the effect of an Italian-controlled Ethiopia on Britain's position in the Mediterranean, Egypt and the Anglo-Egyptian Sudan?

The Italian government has required all motion picture theaters to show one national sound film for each three foreign sound films exhibited.

MARION JOINS FIGHT ON NUMBERS RACKET

Police Arrest Man on Charge of Selling Ticket; Held Under Bond.

Marion today joined other Central Ohio cities in a current drive against the "number" racket. Perrell Wilson, alias Robert Wilson, 35 colored, of 674 Hooking street, was arrested Saturday at 4:50 p. m. on West Center street, and charged with selling a "number" ticket.

The charge alleges that Wilson sold a ticket representing shares and an interest in a lottery, which is contrary to Ohio statutes. The violation is alleged to have occurred April 20.

Arraigned in municipal court, Wilson pleaded not guilty and was held under bond of $100 for appearance this afternoon. When arrested Wilson had in his possession a number writing book.

Denying that the arrest might be the first of a series in a drive against the number racket in Marion, Police Chief William E. Marks, said that his men are always instructed to be on the alert to "pick up any law violators."

C. OF C. DIRECTS NEW ATTACK ON TAX BILL

WASHINGTON, May 4.—The Chamber of Commerce of the United States directed a broad attack on the administration tax program today before the senate finance committee.

A series of chamber spokesmen appeared before the committee to criticize the house bill from various angles. The first, Fred H. Clausen, chairman of the chamber's committee on federal finance, contended it failed to provide for balancing the budget.

"Business men generally recognize the necessity for early return to a balanced budget," he said. "It is not possible to accept this bill as a means to that end."

Clausen said the added revenue from the bill was "highly uncertain and insufficient," that it would replace a tax system which promised substantial new revenue as business improved, and that any plan to balance the budget was unworkable that did not provide for a collateral reduction in expenditures.

OHIO G. O. P. TO RALLY ON THURSDAY NIGHT

By The Associated Press

COLUMBUS, O., May 4.—Ohio's regular Republican leaders turned their scheduled Thursday night "favorite son" rally into a get-together for representatives of four potential presidential candidates today following abandonment of a separate rally by supporters of Gov. Alf M. Landon of Kansas.

Reasons for cancelling the Landon state meeting scheduled for Friday night remained undisclosed. Wilson Halsey, head of the Ohio Landon club, said there was "no connection" between the two actions.

Other Republicans, who declined to be quoted, expressed the opinion, however, that the Landon rally was "unnecessary," since Landon's national leader, John Hamilton, would speak at the general Republican meeting Thursday night.

Robert A. Taft of Cincinnati, the "favorite son," and Sen. William E. Borah of Idaho are the only two contestants for presidential convention delegates in the May 12 primary.

Landon, Col. Frank Knox of Chicago, and Sen. Arthur H. Vandenberg of Michigan are not avowed candidates, but representatives of each were invited to the statewide rally.

Dorah will come back to Ohio tonight for a speech at East Liverpool. He planned to follow it up with engagements at Zanesville, Adm. Toledo and Cleveland, on consecutive nights in the organized.

FARMERS ABSORB RELIEF WORKERS

By The Associated Press

CHICAGO, May 4.—With midwestern farmers offering wages 10 to 12 per cent above last year, relief officials and employment agencies today predicted American farms would absorb up to 300,000 workers from relief rolls this spring and thousands otherwise unemployed.

A survey of 10 states from Ohio to Nebraska showed farmers paying an average of $1.40 a day with board for help in spring planting, or $1.50 a day without board.

SAW JAIL BARS AND FLEE

NAPOLEON, O., May 4.—Three prisoners sawed their way from a cellblock in the Henry county jail early today. Sheriff George Bowman identified them as Harry Wexler, 21, Columbus Lewis, 21, and Daniel Ryan, 54, all held on charges of robbery.

STEEL PRODUCTION STILL AT TOP RATE

CLEVELAND, O., May 4.—The steel industry today said the making of steel was continuing to set a new record.

Automobile's assembly totaled 110,000 units last week, a comparatively slight decline from the peak of 120,000 in the preceding week. April output topped 500,000, the fifth largest month in the industry's history. "Private construction" said the magazine "is heavier."

CHAUNCEY BAKER CLAIMED BY DEATH

COLUMBUS, O., May 4.—Three prisoners who sawed steel bars and escaped from the Marion county home, died Saturday at 2:30 p. m. at the City hospital where he was receiving treatment for obstruction of the bowels.

As far as county officials know, there are no surviving relatives. Mr. Baker lived at the county home from time to time and the last time he was admitted was in 1925.

The funeral will be conducted Tuesday at 10 a. m. at the Groll & Banfill funeral home on East Church street. Rev. M. L. Buckley, retired minister, will be in charge. Burial will be made in the Marion cemetery. The body is at the funeral home.

HAGOOD WILL RESIGN HIS ARMY POSITION

Says He'll Write a Book to Show How Better Defense Can Be Had at Less Cost.

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, May 4.—After serving only one full day as commanding officer of the Sixth army corps area at Chicago, Maj. Gen. John H. Hagood—who spent several weeks in military exile after criticizing WPA spending policies—today requested immediate retirement.

In a communication received here at the same time from Chicago, the veteran officer announced that he expected to go to his home in Charleston, S. C., to write a book "in which I shall show how the United States can get a much better national defense at very much less cost to the taxpayer."

CAMERAMEN PUZZLE GARBO ON ARRIVAL

NEW YORK, May 4.—Greta Garbo, whose acquaintance with cameramen has been more than fleeting, pondered a new (to her) photographic wrinkle today.

When she stepped into the semi-dark smoking room of the liner Gripsholm, the Swedish screen siren was a little puzzled when someone struck a match and held it over her head.

"This is awfully strange," she said.

Kelly Petillo, says: "Camels hit the spot. I've found that smoking Camels—during and after meals—goes a long way in helping keep my digestion in good shape." Camels set you right!

WOMAN'S WORK is never done, according to the old saying. Mrs. Frank Smith is a typical modern housewife. "Camels make food taste better," says Mrs. Smith. "My digestion works smoothly when I smoke Camels during meals."

ALL ABOARD! Away from home, a business man meets many conditions that upset the normal routine of digestion. Camels stimulate good digestion no matter where you are. Smoke them for digestion's sake. Camels never jangle your nerves.

MASTER WELDER—Dan Rafferty has a job where good digestion counts. He needs a steady hand and a steady eye. "Smoking Camels helps my digestion," says Dan. "Camels taste mild and rich." Turn to Camels—for digestion's sake.

SECRETS OF THE DEEP. "Camels make food taste better and digest better," says Henry Siemer, master diver. "That tasty Camel flavor is made to order for me."

Smoking Camels Encourages Good Digestion, Good Feeling... Increases Alkalinity
Modern days are trying. Nerves get "wound up." Hurry, worry, and strain tend to interfere with normal processes of digestion.
It is a scientific fact that smoking Camels has an alkalizing effect, through increasing the flow of the alkaline digestive fluids, helping to keep digestion on its proper course. You secure a comforting "lift" and feeling of well-being as you enjoy the delicate flavor of your Camel.
You can smoke Camels steadily. With their matchless blend of costlier tobaccos, Camels never get on your nerves or tire your taste.

Fly-Tying Provides Year-Round Entertainment for Fisherman

Below is one of a series of articles on hobbies, written by a member of the Marion fishing club. In connection with the eighth annual hobby and handicraft exhibit which will be held at the Y. M. C. A. May 13-14 under the auspices of the Y. M. C. A., the Kiwanis, Rotary and hobby clubs and the public and parochial schools.

Fly-tying is one of the hobbies of Cecil Gabler of 263 Marion avenue, a member of the faculty of the Central Junior High school. Not only does he enjoy the hobby himself, but he has taught many of his pupils the art of making the enticing artificial flies.

Mr. Gabler discusses his hobby and gives a few of the fine points of fly-tying in the following article:

Many a dyed-in-the-wool Washington has found a way of making fishing a year-around diversion by engaging in the fascinating pastime of tying his own artificial flies. Through the long winter months he can fashion from feathers and silk enticing lures that will call up memories of sunny days on the stream and the big ones that got away and what his piscatorial anticipations for the coming season.

There is a new thrill in store for the angler who takes up fly-tying—that of catching his first fish on a fly he has fashioned himself. A worm, a minnow, or a grasshopper never deceived a fish. If such bait were taken it was taken for just what it was. Neither can one claim all the credit for a fish taken on a fly tied by someone else. But when you can get a fish to strike a fly you have tied yourself, your triumph is complete. For the first time in your life you have succeeded in outwitting a fish.

The orthodox English fly fisherman goes one better. Upon reaching his fishing spot he notes the type of fly the fish is feeding on and ties an imitation of this insect from material he has brought along or from material improvised on the spot. English anglers have been known to take fish on emergency flies fashioned from bits of clothing, flower petals, straw and grass.

One of the most appealing aspects of this hobby is the fact that there is practically no expense involved in pursuing it. The necessary tools—the vise, shuttle and hackle pins—can be made or improvised in the home workshop, and most of the tying material can be picked up around the average home. A search through the family sewing basket will frequently reveal quite an assortment of tying silk and floss for bodies, and a raid on the chicken house will furnish enough feathers for a lifetime of fly tying. The attic also may yield a feather duster or two or perhaps some cast off millinery with some excellent colored ostrich or peacock plumes. Once the tying kit has been started the material will accumulate in an amazing fashion. Should the maker go in for authentic fancy patterns it may become necessary for him to buy certain feathers from one of the numerous houses that supply fly tying material.

In dressing a fly there are roughly three operations—winding the body, tying the wings, and winding on the hackle or legs. Bodies are made of peacock hair, silk, thread, chenille, wool, mohair and raffia, depending, of course, on the pattern to be tied. Wings are made of sections from turkey tailfeathers, breast or wing feathers of the goose, duck, guinea and gray and brown mallards. Legs or hackles are always made of the long, slender, fine-quilled feathers with stiff, readily-separating web found high on the neck of the rooster or game cock. Saddle hackles are sometimes used for the larger bone flies. For a detailed description of these operations, the beginner should provide himself with some of the pamphlet literature on fly tying advertised in all outdoor magazines.

Flies are tied either dry, wet, or palmer style. The dry fly is the most popular.

Hot Potato.

It's not clear what has been won and lost, but how firm inflationists finally have obtained enough signatures to force a vote on the Frazier-Lemke inflation farm mortgage refinancing bill.

Several things seem more important at the moment than the terms of the bill, which probably won't come up for a vote until later this month. For one thing, it probably won't be passed.

It has been forced to a vote for purposes which have more to do with campaigning than with farm mortgages or inflation. Not all the members who signed the petition to release the bill, furthermore, are necessarily favorable to it.

Rather, a good many of them are willing to seem to be in favor of it for what they can get out of it. They have almost complete assurance that the senate will undo whatever damage might be done in the house. Even if the bill were to pass both houses, they could depend on a veto in the White House.

Democratic leaders have been handling the Frazier-Lemke bill like a hot potato, which is what it is, politically. Economically, unless most of the Washington sources of information have become undependable suddenly, it is another of the half-baked potatoes which have been causing legislative indignation. Yet, some of the boys wanted a chance to show their hearts are in the right place on the hoary question of helping farmers by printing more bales of paper money. Apparently, they will have their way.

Resolution No. 8.

President Roosevelt has asked congress to appropriate an additional $400,000 for the federal communications commission to continue its investigation of American Telephone & Telegraph Co. and other telephone companies. Since the original appropriation of $760,000 was the largest ever granted for an inquiry, curious persons are asking what the commission is doing to deserve this large slice of federal cake.

Resolution No. 8 of the 74th congress supplies the official answer. "The commission is authorized and directed," says the United States Government Manual, "to investigate and report on companies engaged, directly or indirectly, in telephone communication in interstate commerce, including all companies related to them through holding company structures or otherwise."

Curious persons still may be inclined to wonder what the official authorization means. They will recall that already the country has been informed A. T. & T. has a virtual monopoly, that it has engaged in the motion picture industry, that its prolific inventors produce devices faster than the company can use them and that a liberal pension plan is in effect—to mention only a few disclosures.

Since $1,150,000 seems an excessive amount to pay for information which might have been discovered for the price of a year's subscription to a trade magazine, the curious may be justified in entertaining an uncharitable suspicion. Is the inquiry, like so many congressional excavations, an election year attempt to dig up " dirt"? The serious tone of Resolution No. 8 appears to preclude such a suspicion—but many a villain has been dressed in a cutaway.

Winter Books.

Rep. Marion A. Zionscheck, who speaks for the populous first district of the state of Washington, is diligently trying to fill the shoes of the late Sen. Huey P. Long as No. 1 congressional non-conformist. It's a dull day when he doesn't make some kind of news.

The whole thing is very interesting. The record shows that Rep. Zionscheck always has been a cutup. Before he came to Washington as a congressman he engaged in various antics in Seattle, which lies in his district. Before that he was a campus cutie at the University of Washington.

There is plenty of evidence that he knows what he is doing. Like the late Sen. Long he has a well developed flair for calling attention to himself. His press notices may not be flattering, but they're frequent. So what is proved? Nothing. But on the strength of his recent performances Rep. Zionscheck must be put down as a good bet to win re-election in the Washington primary next Sept. 8. If he holds up all right in the primary, furthermore, he won't be worse than an 8 to 1 bet in the big race next November.

A smart politician once said he didn't care what was written about him as long as something was written. Rep. Zionscheck may not be an intellectual giant, but he has discovered the value of advertising.

A Reason for Everything.

In a logical world there must be a reason for everything. There should be a reason, therefore, covering the decline of stock quotations. No less than 12 are available.

New margin regulations have frightened speculators. The pending tax bill has shaken confidence.

The six billion deficit for the current year has caused apprehension.

The French elections have created uncertainty.

Investigation of American Telephone & Telegraph Co. has excited fear.

The tone of recent presidential messages has been unsatisfactory.

There seems less optimism about slowing down the new deal by defeating President Roosevelt next November.

The stock market always reflects the business uncertainty which exists in an election year.

Investors are swinging from an upturn of optimism to a downturn of skepticism; there is a psychological factor at work.

For a year stocks have been climbing faster than industrial activity; the current recession is in the nature of a discount.

There are more sellers than buyers, which is a truism in all stock declines, but not necessarily a funny truism.

All together, these reasons probably explain why the stock market is behaving strangely. With a few changes here and there, the same reasons probably would cover any stock market recession any time, any place. It seems almost proper to say that the stock market responds to logic better than the people who are concerned with it.

A New Angle.

In urging enactment of additional civil service legislation, National League of Women Voters stresses a new angle which should appeal even to patronage dispensers.

"The league believes," an official statement declares, "it would be a relief to the congressmen who are to be elected next November if they did not have to look forward to the enemies they will make every time they endorse a political friend for a job."

Time after time legislators have been urged to put more civil service into government in the name of civic virtue, efficiency and similar abstractions. Usually, they have refused to budge. The women voters added a plea along these customary lines when they urged passage of the Ranspach bill which would transfer first, second and third class postmasters to civil service. Emphatically, however, was placed on the idea of relieving congressional worries.

Congressmen have heroically resisted pleas to be civically virtuous. But on grounds of self interest alone they should be interested in an idea which might save them from much of the grief and gray hairs that patronage dispensing brings. The league has suggested the postoffice as a place to start. It's not certain congressional old dogs will be able to learn new tricks, but it would be worth trying.

Glancing Backward

TEN YEARS AGO.

It was Thursday, May 4, 1926. A hundred thousand special deputies were called into service in Great Britain as a general strike demoralized industry and brought the nation to the verge of civil war.

Ground was officially broken for the Harding Memorial in an afternoon ceremony in which members of the executive committee of the Harding Memorial association and a group of Marion business men participated.

Henry E. High of Dix Avenue, superintendent of construction at the Huber Mfg. Co. plant, resigned his position after 24 years' service with the company, to accept a place as special roller salesman with the Gallion Iron Works & Mfg. Co. The board of education employed 173 teachers for the following school year. This action followed the board's confirmation of Superintendent H. Mason's recommendation for a five-year period.

Miss Rose Rosenbaum was elected president of the Council of Jewish Women at its final meeting of the season.

Committees and officials were appointed for Marion's annual Memorial day observance. Col. G. B. Christian was elected president of the day and G. V. Paschall vice president and grand marshal. Rev. B. L. George, pastor of Epworth M. E. church, was selected to give the address.

TWENTY YEARS AGO.

It was Thursday, May 4, 1916. The civil population of Metz, great German fortress in Lorraine, was reported evacuating the city. It had been raided many times by French aviators.

A news dispatch from Amsterdam reported that the Kaiser had asked President Wilson to "intercede for peace in the cause of humanity."

British warships at the entrance of the Firth of Forth were bombarded "with great success" by Zeppelins which took part in a raid over northeastern England and southeastern Scotland, a Berlin dispatch reported.

W. B. Hiles of Bloomville was elected superintendent of schools at Prospect and C. B. Ulery was elected superintendent at Marietta.

Rev. John P. Curran, Baptist pastor of Kenton, formerly of Marion, received a letter from his son William, who was at the front in France with the Canadian artillery. He wrote: "There is a battle going on now. Bullets are flying merrily. Men are dropping like flies. I am sitting on a cannon as I write waiting for a call from the ammunition column."

Mrs. F. D. Schweinfurth was hostess to the M. B. C. club at her home on Cherry street.

Supreme Court Gives Big News of Week

Opinion Sets Up Guide To Protect Constitutional Rights of People Against Invasion by Congress.

BY DAVID LAWRENCE
Copyright, 1936, by The Marion Star

WASHINGTON, May 4.—The most important event in the week in national affairs was the handing down of an opinion by the supreme court of the United States that sets up a guide of constructive value in aiding the citizen and the government to alter a safe course through the mazes of new law that have been set up in recent years.

The average man probably does not realize that, as government has become more and more complicated and overburdened with tasks that the legislative bodies have turned over to executive agencies or commissions, the rights of the citizen have to be determined in a judicial fashion, especially if some question arises whether he is or is not complying with a given regulation.

The tendency on the part of congress, and for that matter state legislatures, too, has been to write a law in general terms and leave it to the executive or judicial board to proclaim regulations as to details. More than this, the right has been given to commissions to take testimony at hearings, some public and some private, and then it has been stipulated that, as to "questions of fact," the decision of the commission shall be final and conclusive.

This merely means that, while court review is not taken away, the opportunity for a court to look into a case to see whether a citizen's constitutional rights have been forfeited might seem to be limited. In other words, the reviewing court, if it had to accept the findings of fact by a commission or executive department, would never be able to tell whether constitutional rights have been lost. For the so-called "findings" amount usually to an interpretation of the evidence, and hence a reviewing court would get a colored view of that evidence. If the executive agency happened to be politically minded or prejudiced with the viewpoint of a particular class in the economic struggles of today.

How then can a citizen be assured of court review? Congress has shown an inclination to write into the law itself some limitation on the right of appeal. The supreme court of the United States alone, however, can determine what is the supreme law of the land. This is a power vested in the supreme court by the Constitution itself. Hence, it becomes important to see whether congress can limit the right of court review. Chief Justice Hughes, speaking for the supreme court, upheld the right of review where constitutional rights were jeopardized.

The case in point arose with reference to the enforcement of the stockyards act by the secretary of agriculture. It so happens that the "findings" of the secretary were affirmed as correct by all the members of the court. A question developed as to how far weight should be given to evidence taken by the secretary and whether the facts themselves should be examined by the reviewing courts. Justice Brandeis seemed to think the decisions of these fact-finding commissions should be final. Justices Cardozo and Stone thought his reasoning was faulty. It so happens that the weight of precedent supported the contention of Chief Justice Hughes, who delivered the opinion of the court. In that opinion, Mr. Hughes said:

"Legislative declaration or finding is necessarily subject to independent judicial review upon the facts and the law by courts of competent jurisdiction to the end that the Constitution as the supreme law of the land may be maintained. Nor can the legislative act be upheld on the ground of its being a declaration of fact, which is a limitation by authorizing its agent to make findings that the agent has kept within that limitation."

"Legislative agencies, with varying qualifications, work in a field peculiarly exposed to political demands. Some may be expert and impartial, others subservient. It is not difficult for them to observe the requirements of law in giving a hearing and receiving evidence. But to say that their findings of fact may be conclusive where constitutional rights of liberty and property are involved, although the evidence clearly establishes that the findings are wrong and constitutional rights have been invaded, is to place those rights at the mercy of administrative officials and seriously to impair the security inherent in our judicial safeguards. That prospect, with our multiplication of administrative agencies, is not one to be lightly regarded."

The foregoing quotation will surely be of historical importance as a restatement of doctrine or fundamental principle of constitutional law. It takes on new meaning nowadays because many new deal laws have contained what are called legislative declarations and are not binding on the courts. For instance, the securities act of 1933 says:

"The findings of the commission as to the facts, if supported by evidence, shall be conclusive."

The securities and exchange act of 1934 contained a duplication of the same provision.

The national labor relations act, after prescribing methods of filing petitions to U. S. circuit courts for enforcement of the board's orders, says:

"The findings of the board as to the facts, if supported by evidence, shall be conclusive."

The public utility act of 1935 and the Guffey coal act contain identical provisions stating that the findings of the commission which enforces each act "shall be conclusive."

Many cases are pending in the lower courts touching on what are or are not the "facts" in labor disputes. If a labor board, which consists of pro-labor members or pro-employer members, should have the power to declare what are the "facts" and the legislative act would be binding, the constitutional right of the citizen could be swept away virtually by fiat or decree of congress through the simple method of creating an agency or commission to hold hearings and issue findings on the alleged "facts." The supreme court of the United States, ever vigilant to protect the rights of the citizen, has by its pronouncement reiterated a warning to citizens as well as to government agencies that constitutional rights cannot be thus taken away. Undoubtedly executive commissions will be more careful in the future, and when a few principles have been set up in a number of test cases, the chances are the supreme court will not be burdened with many cases of reviewing the "facts."

Behind the News

Men and Affairs Under The Washington Spotlight.

BY PAUL MALLON

WASHINGTON, May 4.—Gold stocks have been holding up well during the market decline. The tip is supposed to be at least lukewarm in Wall Street that the President is going to hike the gold price again and squeeze his last nine cents out of the dollar.

No indication of anything like that has been noticeable here. A lot of things have happened since President Roosevelt set out to increase the price level that way and said: "Do it we will." He seems to be thinking now along the opposite line of price stabilization rather than increase.

Furthermore, from a technical standpoint, it would not make sense for Mr. Roosevelt to give up his nine-cent leeway in the dollar now in view of the French situation. The proper time for further dollar readjustment would be after the French have devalued.

Lastly, there is no public pressure for it. France.

The best viewpoint here still is that the French will go off gold, rather than devalue, despite all that has been heard lately to the contrary.

When and if that happens, the effects probably will be: (a) Immediate fall in the franc which may be prolonged if unaccompanied by control over the flight of capital via the security markets. The world will wait. (b) As the franc crumbles, French withdrawal of capital from abroad will start. Withdrawals from the United States market will have only a temporary effect. (c) French exports will increase (to United States, wines, furs, perfumes, etc.) and imports decline (from United States, apples). (d) French prices will tend to rise slowly, thus gradually reducing the price stimulation to French exports.

Conclusion: The effects will not be immediately important. There is reason to believe the French will await an international monetary conference before stabilizing the franc.

Legislation

Congressional forecast: Congress will not permit the Frazier-Lemke bill to get as far as the White House. Democrats do not want to make Mr. Roosevelt vote it in view of the campaign. It will probably be killed in the house. If not the senate.

Details of the final form of the tax bill are not yet evident, but there is every reason to expect that the senate will modify the corporate tax schedule passed by the house. The Wheeler-Crosser railroad economy bill will not pass, but the job of Rail Coordinator Eastman will be continued another year. A chain store bill will pass, but the final form will probably be slightly less sharp than even the existing modified Robinson-Patman bill, passed recently by the senate. The house may pass the Borah-Van Nuys bill but at any rate the final bill will be written in conference between the two houses.

Flood control will pass about as is. So will relief, with or without broad earmarking of funds. The earmarking will not mean anything because Mr. Roosevelt will be authorized to switch funds if he wants to, as he is now doing under the present earmarked relief appropriation.

The difficulties of being a statesman are amply illustrated by the Frazier-Lemke bill. Many a farm congressman suspects the bill is unsound. It would destroy the new deal's credit policy by doubling the already onerous excessive reserves. The Federal Reserve system would not recover for twenty years, if ever. But a needy mortgage-ridden farmer does not now care about that.

It would cause the issuance of possibly $3,000,000,000 in currency and probably cause an inflation psychology, harmful to government credit and tending to increase the prices of what the farmer buys. That is not a very effective argument to a needy farmer either.

It is a government gift of $3,000,000,000, and someone will have to pay the bill. The government has been paying the bill for its other gifts by taxation to raise the interest on its increasing debt. The Frazier-Lemke currency issue would make everybody pay by deprecating values of everything everybody owns—life insurance, property, the dollar in your pocket.

In other words, the expectation that such well intended legislation would sink the ship of state and throw everyone into the water does not make much impression on the farmer who wants the Frazier-Lemke life-belt.

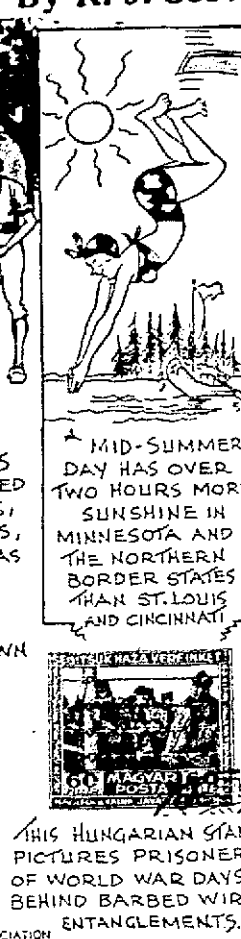

Notes

Two Republican candidates, at least, will announce promptly, if nominated, that they will include prominent Democrats in their cabinets. One is Frank Knox, the other Gov. Landon. Assurances that both men are agreeable to the idea have come to unquestionable Washington sources.

Good California sources who have checked the primary situation closely say Landon should win today but that a drift against him started ten days ago, making the size of his majority doubtful. (Copyright, 1936, by Paul Mallon)

New York Notes

O. O. McIntyre's Diary of Fact, Fancy and Folks.

NEW YORK, May 4.—Diary:

Beltime and decided to breakfast by a street window, an idea that never struck me before. And, notes from Edie Guest, Vingle E. Rot and a public and saw William Van Loo there. And the dancing fellow Ray Bolger and Harry Hansen, the critic. So to Grand Central to pick around the vast newstand and then to my quarters writing a letter to Elsie Robinson, whom I love devotedly.

After motoring northward watching the river canals and home where Richard Watt's mother had left the most beautiful flowers we ever saw. And news from Seward, Alaska, that Rex Beach had forwarded me a cub bear. And I hear he is now writing a sequel to that stirring novel, "The Spillies."

The dinner at a public and saw William Van Loo there. And the dancing fellow Ray Bolger and Harry Hansen, the critic. So to Grand Central to pick around the vast newstand and then to my quarters writing a letter to Elsie Robinson, whom I love devotedly.

Broadway's newest wonder key sign, reputedly the world's largest and advertising a chewing gum, conceals sidewalk traffic rightly. The cost is said to be a million, and it spreads a block-long length atop the new building on the site of the old New York theater. The effect is entirely marine, wavelets and enormous, brilliantly hued fish emitting bubbles. Like this o o o o o. The symbolism between fish and chewing gum is sketchy, but if the idea is to attract attention, and undoubtedly it is, the sign is what Broadway calls a smash.

That surprising cafe district that sprung up on West 52nd between 5th and 6th avenue is another brilliant bit in Manhattan's nightly miracle of light. The block is now almost solid with restaurants and night clubs and each tries to outdo the other in flaming beacons. The effect is like a transplant of the club district in Montmartre. The location offers easy access to the night crowds from Broadway and the fashionable East Side and so far no eating place along the strip has gone into bankruptcy.

I hear of a rather expensive way to acquire weight by one of the stage's leading men who suffered what Kathleen Monahan calls the "windies." He found his shrinkage might imperil his office value and discovered that if he ate anything creating thirst in the evening he awakened around 2 a. m. with a craving for milk. Otherwise he dined it. So, loving caviar, he eats a $1.39 jar before retiring and gulps a pint or a quart of milk when he awakens. In three weeks he regained 14 of his lost 18 pounds.

Bagatelles: Anthony Eden is a cryptogram fiend. The first name in electric lights was appropriately "Edison." Mark Twain provided funds for the dramatic education of William Gillette. Albert Einstein visits the Central Park zoo weekly. Robert Sherwood attends his plays on the second night only. George Bernard Shaw has had the same barber for 22 years. A. P. Herbert, member of parliament for Bury's staff, likes American comic strips. Bill Robinson is Harlem's Rockefeller. Alfred Lunt likes a midnight snack in a lunch wagon, too.

The recent revival of Meredith Nicholson's "The House of 1000 Candles" in cinema recalls that jet of hilarity at the Lamb's the night it was dramatized. John Golden on his way to the premiere wore the wearing tails and white tie. The late Laurence O'Driscoll surveyed his splendor and inquired whether he was wending. Golden said: "To the opening of The House of 1000 Candles." O'Driscoll, stroking his long mustaches, reflectively observed in his verberal monosyllabic talk: "One Thousand. Yes. Quite. A good man. What!" (Copyright, 1936, McNaught Syndicate)

SMART SPORTS FROCK EASY-MADE SUITABLE FOR ALL OCCASIONS

Summers in the offing—and easy enough for making this crisp frock of such simple, yet dashing lines. Equally dashing in court or side-lines, it's a frock that dresses up with hat and goes to town. Brief to reveal in raglan effect give the broad-shouldered look, and a row of cool besides, while the skirt pleats generally permit a breezy stride. Make more, you'll find it as a frock that's easy to make, and that as pretty fashioned of up there as of linen, crash, tulle, or sports silk. Can't you picture yourself in this, for all those gay, happy summer days ahead?

Pattern 2653 is available in sizes 12, 14, 16, 18, 20, 22, 24, 26, 28, 30, 32, 34, 36, 38, 40, 42, 44, 46, 48, 50, 52, 54, 56, 58, 60, 62, 64, 66, 68, 70, 72, 74, 76, 78, 80, 82, 84, 86, 88, 90, 92, STOCKS CLIMB AFTER SETBACK

Rubber, Farm Implement and Specialties Lead Recovery Parade.

By The Associated Press
NEW YORK, May 4.—The stock market got back on its feet today after an early stumble had shaken prices down 3 to 5 or more points.

Rubber, farm implement, and specialties shares attracted supporting buyers and initial declines were cancelled or replaced with gains up to 2 or more in many instances.

Issues in demand near the start of the fourth hour included U. S. Rubber, Goodyear, J. I. Case, Deere, International Harvester and John Deere. Fractionally improved were American Telephone, North American and Northern Pacific.

Commodities were mixed, as were bonds and the principal foreign currencies.

Foreign affairs, including the victory of the "leftists" in France, held much of Wall Street's attention, but domestic industrial trends were still being watched for market clues.

Settling at the beginning of foreign exchange transactions was up 2 1/2 cents at $4.96 1/2, and the French franc was .004 of a cent easier at 6.53 1/2 cents.
